Bob Tiell has been a leading professional in the delivery of Career Services in the Louisville region for many years. As former Director of JFCS' Career & Workforce Development division, he created, led and managed the delivery of a wide range of career and workforce development services to the entire community. Bob is a change agent.

For individual clients, services include career assessment and management, career coaching & strategizing, college & school advisement, vocational evaluation, employment counseling, and various other career, schooling, and professional development services.

For attorneys, Bob qualifies as a vocational expert and conducts vocational evaluations to assess employability and earning power.

For organizational clients, services include personnel screening, outplacement, team building, executive coaching, family business consulting, assessment of "hi-pots" and other consulting services. Bob and his team also historically launched and led several projects, workshops, and seminars revolving around career and workforce development issues. Bob is also a Louisville Leadership Center alum.

Beyond pioneering delivery of career and college advisement services, Bob and his team, in the spirit of social entrepreneurship, launched several other new programs over the years. They include the first SAT Prep. Class, Job Club, Navigate Enterprise Center (business start-ups), a Family Business Center, and our community's first "brain gain" initiative. Special projects include the national award-winning Long-Term Unemployment (LTU) project representing collaborations with other community-based organizations. Business First also recognized Bob as a top local career specialist.

Bob's background and training in the behavioral sciences, assessment, higher education, rehabilitation, business, and workforce areas makes him highly qualified to assist clients on a variety of career, schooling, talent, performance, and workforce development issues. He can be reached at 502 445 5183, 502 394 9990 and bhtuell@gmail.com.
